hello
life

all the colours of the autumn leaves have gone

the trees are torn

The trees are bare

and the only colour is the green of the rain-soaked grass.

Earlier, I saw a sad-looking mural

it captured the feeling of this time of year

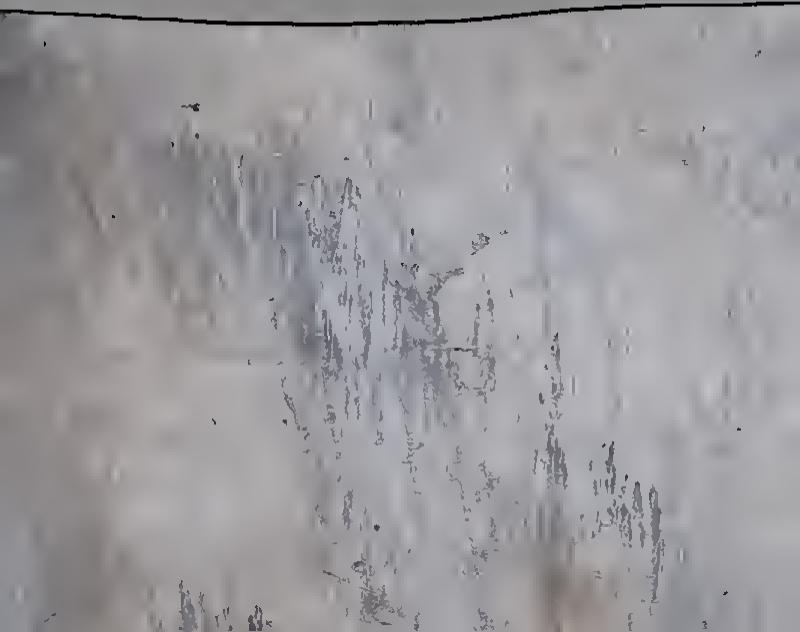
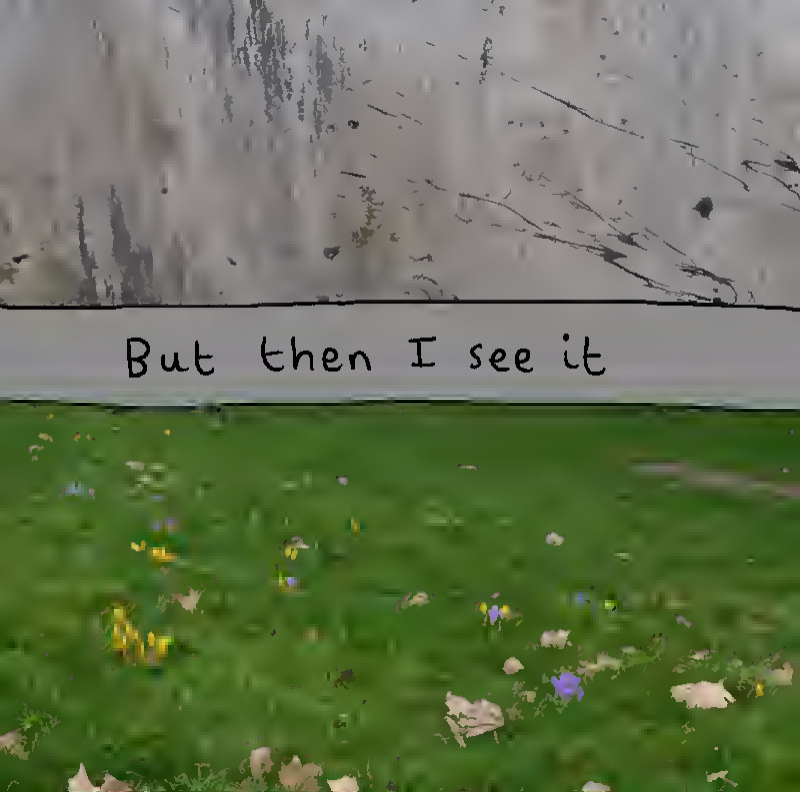
because most of it looked like this:





But then I see it

bright sparkles in the green grass

heralding new life

and the return of spring.

@dorrismccomics